

Application for digital access from non-Norwegian IP addresses

According to an agreement between the National Library of Norway and rights holder organisation Kopinor, most books published in Norway in 2005 and earlier may be made digitally available to users within the Norwegian IP-range. A few select periodicals can also be made available this way.

Users outside of Norway may apply for access to these same materials. Access is granted for specific purposes only, primarily for research and educational purposes. If an application is approved, access is given for a period of six months, with the possibility of a further six month extension. To apply, please fill in the following:

Name: _____
Organisation: _____
Address: _____
Postcode: _____ Country: _____

E-mail: _____
Phone: _____

Purpose for access:

Terms and conditions:

Materials are made available for on-screen viewing only and shall not be copied, republished, downloaded, or otherwise reproduced or transmitted without the written consent of the copyright holders.

If your application is approved, you will receive a username and password to access the material in the Digital Library. Your access is personal and not transferable.

If these terms of use are violated, the National Library of Norway may terminate your access. The copyright holders can prosecute violations of these terms and/or any use of the service that violates copyright law.

I confirm that the information given is correct, and agree to the above terms and conditions.
